Jesus descending from the mountain to come into Jerusalem met a leper, who by divine inspiration knew Jesus to be a prophet. When Herod was dead, behold the angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph, saying: 'Return into Judaea, for they are dead that willed the death of the child.' Joseph, therefore, took the child with Mary (he having come to the age of seven years), and came to Judaea; whence, hearing that Archelaus, son of Herod, was reigning in Judaea, he went into Galilee, fearing to remain in Judaea; and they went to dwell at Nazareth. A lot more can be found in the Hadith books - collections of the sayings of Prophet Muhammad (peace be on him). ere thou west born all was announced to me; whereas blessed be the holy name of God. The whole city of Jerusalem was moved by these words, wherefore they all ran together to the temple to see Jesus, who had entered therein to pray so that they could scarce be contained there. . Behold! I strengthened thee with the holy spirit so that thou didst speak to the people in childhood and in maturity. In Islam, Gabriel is a highly honoured and trustworthy Messenger from God. An Islamic Perspective and Commentary by Ishaq Zahid As we have commented earlier, it appears that Barnabas was not an eyewitness to the early life of Jesus (peace be on him). 'Before that day shall come,' said Jesus, 'great destruction shall come upon the world, for there shall be war so cruel and pitiless that the father shall slay the son, and the son shall slay father by reason of the factions of peoples. And in such wise did Jesus speak to the people, that all wept, from the least to the greatest, crying mercy, and beseeching Jesus that he would pray for them; save only their priests and leaders, who on that day conceived hatred against Jesus for having thus spoken against the priests, scribes, and doctors. Jesus raised his hands to the Lord God and prayed, and the people weeping said: 'So be it, O Lord, so be it.' The prayer being ended, Jesus descended from the temple; and that day he departed from Jerusalem, with many that followed him. Blessed be the holy name of God, who drove the man out of paradise for having transgressed his holy precept. There it now rests, This is not to say that the non-Israelites can not benefit from his teachings and his life. Antwerp 1698). The soldiers therefore came and slew all the children that were there, as Herod had commanded them. When their prayers were ended they departed, having lost Jesus, because they thought that he was returned home with their kinsfolk. After his death, it came into the possession of J. It is just that his mission was special for the Israelites. And behold! thou bringest forth the dead by My leave. O miserable age, in which scarce anyone shall be heard to say: 'I have sinned, have mercy on me, O God!'; but with horrible voices, they shall blaspheme him who is glorious and blessed forever. And if any do evil, their faces will be thrown headlong into the Fire: "Do ye receive a reward other than that which ye have earned by your deeds?" (The Quran, 27:87-90). 052.001 By the Mount (of Revelation). 052.002 By a Decree inscribed 052.003 In a Scroll unfolded. 052.004 By the much-frequented Fane; 052.005 By the Canopy Raised High; 052.006 And by the Ocean filled with Swell; -052.007 Verily, the Doom of thy Lord will indeed come to pass; -052.008 There is none can avert it; -052.009 On the Day when the firmament will be in dreadful commotion. 052.010 And the mountains will fly hither and thither. 052.011 Then woe that Day to those that treat (Truth) as Falsehood; -052.012 That play (and paddle) in shallow trifles. 052.013 That Day shall they be thrust down to the Fire of Hell, irresistibly. 052.014 "This, it will be said, "Is the Fire, - which ye were wont to deny." 052.015 "Is this then a fake, or is it ye that do not see? 052.016 "Burn ye therein: the same is it to you whether ye bear it with patience, or not. Ye but receive the recompense of your (own) deeds. "052.017 As to the Righteous, they will be in Gardens, and in Happiness. -069.013 Then, when one blast is sounded on the Trumpet, 069.014 And the earth is moved, and its mountains, and they are crushed to powder at one stroke. -069.015 On that Day shall the (Great) Event come to pass. 069.016 And the sky will be rent asunder, for it will that Day be flimsy. 069.017 And the angels will be on its sides, and eight will, that Day, bear the Throne of thy Lord above them. 069.018 That Day shall ye be brought to Judgment: not an act of yours that ye hide will be hidden. And then Jesus with the greatest vehemence rebuked the people for that they had forgotten the word of God, and gave themselves only to vanity; he rebuked the priests for their negligence in God's service and for their worldly greed; he rebuked the scribes because they preached vain doctrine, and forsook the law of God; he rebuked the doctors because they made the law of God of none effect through their traditions. Mary, therefore, returned with Joseph to Jerusalem, seeking Jesus among kinsfolk and neighbours. An Islamic Perspective and Commentary by Ishaq Zahid The Holy Quran affirms the miracles of Jesus (peace be on him), as given below. 005.112 One day will God gather the apostles together, and ask: "What was the response ye received (from men to your teaching)?" They will say: "We have no knowledge: it is Thou Who knowest in full all that is hidden." 005.113 Then will God say: "O Jesus the son of Mary! Recount My favour to thee and to thy mother. This shows that the Gospel of Barnabas was in circulation in the first and second centuries of Christianity. In 325 C.E., the Nicene Council was held, where it was ordered that all original Gospels in Hebrew script should be destroyed. And they meditated upon his death, but for fear of the people, who had received him as a prophet of God, they spoke no word. E. (Acia Sanctorum Boland Junii Tom II, Pages 422 and 450. In 383 C.E., the Pope decreed a copy of the Gospel of Barnabas and kept it in his private library. In the fourth year of Emperor Zeno (478 C.E.), the remains of Barnabas were discovered and there was found on his breast a copy of the Gospel of Barnabas written by his own hand. In 1713 Cramer presented this manuscript to the famous connoisseur of books, Prince Eugene of Savoy. An Edict was issued that anyone in possession of these Gospels will be put to death. In 1738 along with the library of the Prince it found its way into Hofbibliothek in Vienna. It is Gabriel who brought revelations from God to the earlier Prophets and then finally brought the Holy Quran to Prophet Muhammad (peace be on him). The famous Vulgate Bible appears to be based on this Gospel. And having beckoned with the hand for silence, he opened his mouth, saying: 'Blessed be the holy name of God, who of his goodness and mercy willed to create his creatures that they might glorify him. Blessed be the holy name of God, who created man out of the clay of the earth, and set him over his works. To those who remain upon the earth, God shall send such scarcity that bread shall be valued above gold, and they shall eat it in manner of unclean things. On the fifteenth day, the holy angels shall die, and God alone shall remain alive; to whom be honour and glory.' And having said this, Jesus smote his face with both his hands and then smote the ground with his head. And when Herod heard this he was affrighted, and all the city was troubled. That is, it is common to call a stepfather a father. On the eleventh day, every river shall run backwards and shall run blood and not water. On the thirteenth day, heaven shall be rolled up like a book, and it shall rain fire so that every living thing shall die. Barnabas is also mentioned in the Stichometry of Nicephorus Serial No. 3. Epistle of Barnabas. Joseph arose with great fear and took Mary with the child, and they went into Egypt, and there they abode until the death of Herod; who, believing himself derided of the magi, sent his soldiers to slay all the new-born children in Bethlehem. Gospel According to Barnabas. A Greek version of the Gospel of Barnabas is also found in a solitary fragment. The child grew in grace and wisdom before God and before men. The Gospel of Barnabas was accepted as a Canonical Gospel in the Churches of Alexandria till 325 C.E. Iranaeus (130-200) wrote in support of pure monotheism and opposed Paul for injecting into Christianity doctrines of the pagan Roman religion and Platonic philosophy. He had quoted extensively from the Gospel of Barnabas in support of his views. Assuming only that Mary (peace be on her) got married after the birth of Jesus, the words become acceptable. The rest is burnt. The Latin text was translated into English by Mr. and Mrs. Therefore the priests besought Jesus, saying: 'This person desireth to see thee and hear thee; therefore ascend to the pinnacle, and if God gives thee a word speak it in the name of the Lord.' Then ascended Jesus to the place whence the scribes were wont to speak. And having raised his head, he said: 'Cursed be everyone who shall insert into my sayings that I am the son of God.' At these words, the disciples fell down as dead, whereupon Jesus lifted them up, saying: 'Let us fear God now if we would not be affrighted in that day.' An Islamic Perspective and Commentary by Ishaq Zahid The following selection of verses from the Holy Quran describes the events of the Last Day. Herod seeing that the magi did not return, believed himself mocked of them, whereupon he determined to put to death the child that was born. The text also delineates another fact, that Jesus was sent as a prophet to the house of Israel and not to the entire mankind. If any do good, good will (accrue) to them therefrom; and they will be secure from terror that Day. Then said Herod: 'Go to Bethlehem and search out with all diligence concerning the child; and when ye have found him, come and tell it to me, because I also would fain come and worship him.' And this he spake deceitfully. Fra Marino was interested because he had read the writings of Iranaeus where Barnabas had been profusely quoted. Therefore with him, saying: 'Jesus, thou son of David, have mercy on me.' Jesus answered: 'What wilt thou, brother, that I should do unto thee?' The leper answered: 'Lord, give me health.' Jesus reproved him, saying: 'Thou art foolish; pray to God who created thee, and he will give thee health; for I am a man, as thou art.' The leper answered: 'I know that thou, Lord, art a man, but a holy one of the Lord. But behold while Joseph was sleeping there appeared to him the angel of the Lord, saying: 'Arise up quickly, and take the child with his mother and go into Egypt for Herod will slay him'. On the seventh day, it shall on the contrary sink so low as scarcely to be seen. This English translation mysteriously disappeared from the market. Seeing which namely, that he was healed, the leper with a loud voice cried out: 'Come hither, Israel, to receive the prophet whom God sendeth unto thee'. Blessed be the holy name of God, who created the splendour of all the saints and prophets before all things to send him for the salvation of the world, as he spoke by his servant David, saying: 'Before Lucifer in the brightness of the saints I created thee.' Blessed be the holy name of God, who created the angels that they might serve him. The first day the sun shall run its course in heaven without light, but black as the dye of cloth; and it shall give glooms, as a father who groaneth for a son nigh to death. And behold! I did restrain them the clear Signs, and the unbelievers among them said: 'This is nothing but evident magic.' Jesus has come to the age of thirty years, as he himself said unto me, went up to Mount Olives with his mother to gather olives. Travels and teaching of the Apostles. Serial No. 18. Pope Sixtus (1585-90) had a friend, Fra Marino. It was published by the Oxford University Press in 1907. And everyone was amazed at his questions and answers, saying: 'How can there be such doctrine in him, seeing he is so small and hath not learned to read?' Mary reproved him, saying: 'Son, what hast thou done to us? Then at midday, when he came to these words: 'Lord, with mercy. Jesus, having come to the age of twelve years, went up with Mary and Joseph to Jerusalem, to worship there according to the law of the Lord written in the book of Moses. On the fourteenth day, there shall be an earthquake so horrible that the tops of the mountains shall fly through the air like birds, and all the earth shall become a plain. And the priests spoke evil of Jesus among themselves. He found the Gospel of Barnabas in the private library of the Pope. Then by his servant Moses he gave us his holy law, that Satan should not deceive us; and he exalted us above all other peoples. Seeing the star the magi were filled with gladness. Whereupon, having heard this, Mary answered: 'Son, ' he was surrounded by an exceeding bright light and by an infinite multitude of angels, who were saying: 'Blessed be God.' The angel Gabriel presented to him as it were a shining mirror, a book, which descended into the heart of Jesus, in which he had knowledge of what God hath done and what hath said and what God willeth inasmuch that everything was laid bare and open to him; as he said unto me: 'Believe, Barnabas, that I know every prophet with every prophecy, inasmuch that whatever I say the whole bath come forth from that book.' Jesus, having received this vision, and knowing that he was a prophet sent to the house of Israel, revealed all to Mary his mother, telling her that he needs must suffer great persecution for the honour of God, and that he could not any longer abide with her to serve her. But, brethren, what do we do today, that we are not punished for our sins? Whereupon appeared to them a star of great brightness, wherefore having concluded among themselves, they came to Judaea, guided by the star, which went before them and having arrived at Jerusalem they asked where was born the King of the Jews. Whereupon, while sleeping, they were warned by the child not to go to Herod: so departing by another way they returned to their own home, announcing all that they had seen in Judaea. Cramer, a Councillor of the King of Prussia. The magi, therefore, went thither, and entering the dwelling found the child with his mother, and bending down they did obeisance to him. Herod, therefore, called together the priests and the scribes, saying: 'Where should Christ be born?' They answered that he should be born in Bethlehem: for thus it is written by the prophet: 'And thou, Bethlehem, art not little among the princes of Judah: for out of thee shall come forth a leader, who shall lead my people Israel.' Herod accordingly called together the magi and asked them concerning their coming; who answered that they had seen a star in the east, which had guided them thither, wherefore they wished with gifts to worship this new King manifested by his star. The tenth day shall come such horrible lightning and thunder that the third part of the mountains shall be split and scorched. Wherefore the cities shall be annihilated, and the country shall become desert. On the third day, the stars shall be seen to fight among themselves like an army of enemies. Wherefore pray thou to God, and he will give me health.' Then Jesus, sighing, said: 'Lord God Almighty, for the love of thy holy prophets, give health to this sick man.' Then, having said this, he said, touching the sick man with his hands in the name of God: 'O brother, receive thy health!' And when he had said this the leprosy was cleansed, inasmuch that the flesh of the leper was left unto him like that of a child. Lines 1, 300. Then again in the list of Sixty Books Serial No. 17. In the reign of Herod, king of Judaea, when Jesus was born, three magi in the parts of the east were observing the stars of heaven. Whereby were fulfilled the words of the prophet, saying: 'Lamentation and great weeping are there in Ramah; Rachel lamenteth for her sons, but consolation is not given her because they are not.' The magi, therefore, departed out of Jerusalem, and lo, the star which appeared to them in the east went before them. Thou seest the mountains and thinkest them firmly fixed; but they shall pass away as the clouds pass away: (such is) the artistry of God, who disposes of all things in perfect order; for he is well acquainted with all that ye do, burned up three wicked cities, scourged Egypt, overwhelmed Pharaoh in the Red Sea, scattered the enemies of his people, chastised the unbelievers and punished the impenitent. On the fifth day every plant and herb shall weep blood. Blessed be the holy name of God, who with mercy looked upon the tears of Adam and Eve, the first parents of the human race. On the sixth day, the sea shall rise without leaving its place to the height of one hundred and fifty cubits, and shall stand all day like a wall. Behold I and thy father have sought thee for three days sorrowing.' Jesus answered: 'Know ye not that the service of God ought to come before father and mother?' Jesus then went down with his mother and Joseph to Nazareth and was subject to them with humility and reverence. On the eighth day the birds and the animals of the earth and of the water shall gather themselves close together, and shall give forth roars and cries. On the second day, the moon shall be turned into blood, and blood shall come upon the earth like dew. Such pestilences shall come that none shall be found to bear the dead to burial so that they shall be left as food for beasts. An Islamic Perspective and Commentary by Ishaq Zahid Jesus (peace be on him) receives the book at age thirty brought to him by the angel Gabriel (peace be on him). And the Day that the Trumpet will be sounded - then will be smitten withererror those who are in the heavens, and those who are on earth, except such as God will please (to exempt); and all shall come to His (Presence) as beings conscious of their lowliness. Blessed be the holy name of God, who with mercy looked upon his creatures, and therefore sent them his holy prophets, that they might walk in truth and righteousness before him; who delivered his servants from every evil, and gave them this land, as he promised to ourfather Abraham and to his son forever. And the magi presented unto him spices, with silver and gold, recounting to the virgin all that they had seen. Raggy and was printed at the Clarendon Press in Oxford. On the twelfth day, every creature thing shall groan and cry. The first edition was from a micro-film copy of the book in the Library of the Congress, Washington, DC. The words in the last paragraph, "Behold I and thy father have sought thee..." are contradictory to the fact that Jesus was born without a father. Blessed be the holy name of God who just punished Cain for the fratricide, and sent the deluge upon the earth. Jesus prayed to him, saying: 'Brother, hold thy peace and say nothing,' but the more he prayed to him the more he cried out, saying: 'Behold the prophet! behold the holy one of God!' At which words many that was going out of Jerusalem ran back, and entered with Jesus into Jerusalem, recounting that which God through Jesus had done unto the leper. Two copies of this translation are known to exist, one in the British Museum and the other in the Library of the Congress, Washington, DC. Jesus departed therefore that day from his mother to attend to his prophetic office. Behold! I taught thee the Book and Wisdom, the Law and the Gospel and behold! thou makest out of clay, as it were, the figure of a bird, by My leave, and thou breathest into it and it becometh a bird by My leave, and thou healest those born blind, and the lepers, by My leave. Epistle of Barnabas. Serial No. 24. After this, as that day draweth nigh, for fifteen days, shall come every day a horrible sign over the inhabitants of the earth. And blessed be God, who punished and reprobated Satan and his followers, who would not reverence him whom God willeth to be revered. On the fourth day the stones and rocks shall dash against each other as cruel enemies. It is the first time we see that St. Barnabas mentions his direct communication with Jesus. On the ninth day, there shall be a hailstorm so horrible that it shall kill in such wise that scarcely the tenth part of the living shall escape. And so having come to Bethlehem, outside the city, they saw the star standing still above the inn where Jesus was born. Jesus' midday prayer is also mentioned, which perhaps he was used to doing daily. The Italian manuscript passed through different hands till it reached "a person of great name and authority" in Amsterdam, "who during his lifetime was often heard to put a high value to this piece". On the third day, they found the child in the midst of the doctors, disputing with them concerning the law.
